Medicine is the oldest science in the world, and actually simples and complex advances in medical treatments have been stablished to maintain health along the time. Prognoses and integral diagnoses can help to find cure of chronic and acute diseases. Results are obtained thanks to scientific research. But relationship between doctor-patient is not good, because doctors does not apply the humanized and social medicine. These situations change personal, family, social and laboral life of patients, who put their hope in doctors in order to recover their health. It is important to search medical and social solutions with social inclusion to bring back human Well-being to the society.

This journal will contribute with delivering high quality and balanced research articles on major topics related to Global Health & Medicine with two issue/year format. Both fundamental and applied aspects are published by health professionals, researchers, and young scientists around the world in many different fields. Moreover the new science, knowledge, and applications being discovered and investigated, the public awareness, perception, and understanding of health and medicine is also of tremendous importance for the implementation and sustainability of hospitals for the future.

With the journal of Global Health & Medicine we intend to pursue an educational direction and sincerely believe the journal will contribute to a better understanding of an exciting new field of science and get large solutions to the society. Finally, we greatly acknowledge all of the authors, guest editors, referees, contributors, and readers for their support and consideration to this journal.

---

1 Ms. Researcher. Centre of Research and Training to the Regional development. Lima, Peru.
2 PhD Researcher. Centre of Research and Training to the Regional development. Lima, Peru. E-mail: jhoval1@yahoo.es